

Science, Space and Saving the World Daniel O'Dowd shouts about it all!

Learning to listen is the theme behind Daniel O'Dowd was ever so Loud, the fourth book in the Ever So Series written by Julie Fulton. The story follows Daniel O'Dowd who has a supersonic voice and rarely listens to anyone. His voice is big enough to save the world, but he needs to listen in order to save himself...

Julie said: "I knew I wanted the next zany character from Hamilton Shady to be a boy, and loud seemed to fit the bill perfectly! There has been a lot in the news over recent months about the threat to earth of near misses with asteroids. I sort of put the two ideas together and came up with Daniel's story."

"Daniel O'Dowd was ever so loud, he shouted wherever he went."

The Ever So Series has grown in popularity since Mrs MacCreedy was ever so Greedy was published in 2011.
