

Hedgehugs return this Summer in Horace and Hattiepillar

The adorable and hugely popular Hedgehugs are back for their second adventure in Horace and Hattiepillar.

The first Hedgehugs book was published in January 2014 and now has a dedicated following of fans. It has been shortlisted for several awards including the Evening Standard's Oscar's First Book Prize, The People's Book Prize and The Heart of Hawick Award.

In Horace and Hattiepillar, the lovable pair are inspired by a strange discovery under a leaf to turn themselves into something 'beautiful, colourful and wonderful'. Read their story and find out whether it's possible for hedgehogs to fly!

Hedgehugs is available online and in all good bookshops and is now available at National Trust properties across the country – the perfect home for Horace and Hattie!

Hedgehugs is a successful character brand; as well as the books, the hedgehogs now appear on a calendar, a family organiser and are soon to feature in greeting cards and their own TV animation!

Horace and Hattiepillar is set for release on 28th May 2015 and will be available in all good bookshops and online.
